LYNCHED BY A MOB.

A Negro Convict Taken From Jail at Manchester, Mo.,

And Hung to a Tree While His Slayers Watched Him Slowly Choke To Death.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 17.—John Buchner, a coal black convict, hangs dangling at the end of a rope, the penalty for his villainous criminal assaults yesterday upon Mrs. Al Mungo, wife of a colored farmer, and Miss Allie Harrison, the pretty nineteen-year-old daughter of William H. Harrison, a white farmer.

The assaults were both committed within one hour, and almost within a stone's throw of each other, between Valley Park and Manchester, Mo., about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The lynching took place about dawn this morning. The mob, composed of the farmers of the vicinity, gathered rapidly last night, but it was after midnight before a leader was found who could marshal the forces at hand into shape. They then marched across the country to Manchester, where the negro lay in jail awaiting removal to the county jail at Clayton.

Arriving at the jail there was little time wasted in getting the prisoner away from his guards, and, firmly bound with a rope about his neck and three hundred shot guns and revolvers ready to empty their contents into his worthless hide, the march was again taken up.

Back to Valley Park, the scene of his crime, he was carried, or rather dragged, and there upon a tree overhanging the scene of his second crime, he was yanked up with a jerk that all but broke his neck, but not quite.

He was to die by strangulation. For nearly twenty minutes the mob watched his writhing as he slowly choked to death.

At last the body became limp. With the unanimity of a platoon of regulars the valley was fired which filled the dangling corpse with lead. Then the lynchers dispersed, their work being done.

END OF A LOVE AFFAIR.

Two Suitors for the Affection of a Country Girl.

The Rivals Meet in the Woods and Man is Killed—The Other Blames for His Crime by Manslaughter.

Gettysburgh, Pa., Jan. 17.—Murderer Henry Heist was hanged here at 11:11 this morning.

The crime for which Henry Heist paid the death penalty was the murder of Emanuel Mown on the night of February 1, 1893. Both men were employed as wood choppers and lived together in a cabin about a mile from the spot upon which once stood Thad Steven's old Maria furnace. On the night of the murder they went together to the house of a neighbor for the purpose of visiting a young woman, of whom both were enamored. They left the house together at midnight and the next day Heist and the woman went away together on a trip to an adjacent county. Mown's absence excited suspicion and a search was instituted, which resulted in the finding of his mutilated body, on March 12. It was buried in a shallow grave in the woods and covered with leaves, over which a log had been rolled. Heist fled when the body was found and kept himself in hiding until March 18, when he surrendered to the authorities, at the same time protesting that he was innocent and demanding protection. At the trial, which took place in the following August, he was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged on December 14. It took the jury but twelve minutes to arrive at a verdict. Governor Pattison granted a respite until today in order to give the condemned man a chance to appeal to the board of pardons, which promptly rejected his appeal. Heist was of the lowest order of intelligence and evinced no feeling of regret for his crime.

THE PANHANDLE LOST.

Hon. Robert Sherrard Wins a Big Suit at Columbus.

Desperate Attempt to Wreck the Panhandle Fast Car Near Richmond, Indiana, Last Night.

Springville, Ohio, Jan. 17.—Hon. Robert Sherrard has received word from Columbus that he won in his case against the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company in the supreme court. This involves the payment to him by the company of an immense sum of money. He refused to go into the consolidation with his Panhandle stock and applied to the court to have the value of his stock determined and paid him by the railroad company, as the law provides. The case was first tried by arbitrators who placed the value of the Panhandle stock held by him at $60 a share. The railroad company appealed from the decision of the arbitrators to the court of common pleas and the case was tried by a jury, Judge J. C. Hance presiding, who placed the value of the stock at $68,500. The railroad company took the case to the circuit court and then to the supreme court. The aggregate, as found by the arbitrators, was $171,420; as found by the jury, was $102,900, and Mr. Sherrard will receive a check for $211,000, which aggregate has been reached with the accumulation of interest.

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 17.—An attempt was made just east of here last night to wreck the Pennsylvania system's pay car. A huge piece of timber was placed on the track, but the pilot of the engine threw it off. The car carried a large sum of money and robbery was undoubtedly the motive.

CROSSING ACCIDENT.

A Richmond and Danville Train Badly Wrecked.

A Pullman Coach Thrown Over and Six of Its Occupants Injured—No One Killed.

Washington, Jan. 17.—General Manager Dean, of the Richmond and Danville railroad, has given out this official account of the accident at Chester, S. C., this morning. The Richmond and Danville fast mail train No. 35, was run into by a Georgia, Carolina and Northern freight train at a crossing near Chester, S. C. Train No. 35 was struck at the front truck of a Pullman sleeper, which was turned on its side, as was also a second class coach. The accident occurred in a cut. A force was at once sent to the wreck to clear the track. There were ten passengers in the sleeper. None were killed but five were hurt, not seriously. One of the ladies fainted several times. The following people were injured: Mrs. H. F. Sheares, Pittsburg, hurt in head, a scalp wound.

J. S. Hollman, New York, wrist burned.

Mrs. McCarty, Washington, elbow cut.

Mrs. G. W. McCarty, Washington, bruised.

Pullman conductor, head bruised and ear cut.

J. T. Wilson, Pittsburg, back hurt.

HEAVY GALES

Prevail Upon the Atlantic for Two Weeks.

The Steggle A. Wells, a Fishing Schooner, Goes Down in the Storm—Six Sailors Lost.

New York, Jan. 17.—The steamer Amsterdam (Dutch), from Rotterdam, January 3, arrived at the bar this morning. She had a continuation of heavy gales from all round the compass with tremendous high seas and a very low barometer. On Sunday, January 14, latitude 43, 21; longitude 58, 18, about 11 a. m., in strong northwest breeze and moderate high sea she sighted a schooner and saw that the sea was washing constantly over her and that only by hard pumping she was kept afloat. She had a crew of about fourteen men.

The crew signalled the Amsterdam by gestures that the vessel was in a sinking condition and that they were anxious to leave the ship. Immediately the first officer and six of the Amsterdam's crew manned a boat and went to the rescue. No. 1 life boat left the Amsterdam and every thing went all right until in the vicinity of the wreck, when a sudden shower with squalls, capsized the boat with the result that three of the crew disappeared immediately and the remaining four succeeded in taking hold of the capsized boat. The captain of the Amsterdam went at once to their assistance and succeeded in getting alongside, but the remaining four men were thoroughly exhausted by the cold and, in consequence, were not able to take hold of the life saving apparatus which was given to them and they were drowned, with the exception of one sailor, who, by extraordinary presence of mind, got hold of a rope and was taken on board.

Another crew presented themselves to man a second boat, but owing to the increasing wind and sea the captain objected and concluded to wait for better weather and calm sea. The Amsterdam kept in the vicinity of the wreck until when in a heavy snow squall she lost sight of her, and, although search was made, she was not able to find any trace of the wreck and proceeded on her voyage.

The wreck appears to be the American fishing schooner Maggie E. Well. The following are the names of the Amsterdam's crew of rescue of the sinking schooner and were lost: Chief Officer J. Meyer, aged twenty-eight years; Second Boatswain, E. R. Equart; Carpenter A. J. Oudine; Steerage Steward A. Dess; Quartermaster F. G. Eichhorn; Seaman A. Von Vleet. Seaman A. Vinderwilt, who was an expert swimmer, was saved.

The Maggie E. Wells is thought to be a vessel of that name, whose home is the port of Gloucester, Mass. Although every possible means of saving the sailors were employed, their strength was so far spent that they were unable to keep their hold on the ropes and belts thrown them and in the very act of being lifted to the deck three fell back exhausted and were drowned, only one reaching the deck safely. The passengers on the Amsterdam were very much impressed with the efforts of all the ships' officers and crew to save the crew of the American sailors. The captain did everything in his power and remained in the vicinity until he lost all trace of the schooner and further waiting was useless.

THE STUMBLING BLOCK.

The Compulsory Photograph Clause in the Geary Law

Stands in the Way of Securing a New Treaty to Take the Place of the One Nullified.

Washington, Jan. 17.—There is reason to believe that Yang Yu, the Chinese envoy in Washington, is not making much progress towards securing the new treaty which was to take the place of the one considered nullified by the Geary law.

Upon his first arrival here it was hoped that the United States was about to be offered opportunities for valuable extension of our trade privileges in China. Expectation of this seems to have been based on inferences drawn from the Chinese envoys talk. His ideas on the immigration question, reflecting accurately, it is supposed, those of his own government were so entirely in accord with those of our own people that it was believed this troublesome question would not prove an obstruction to a new agreement.

The compulsory photograph clause of the Geary law is the stumbling block. To compel a Chinaman to be photographed he considers an indignity. It is said to be the belief of the Chinese envoy that this requirement was inserted with intent to affront the Chinese residents of this country. He considers that his sovereign is affronted in the same degree. This may prove an insurmountable obstacle to the agreement for a treaty from which a few weeks ago, much was hoped for the good of our privileges in the rich Oriental trade of the Chinese Empire.

FINDS HIS FATHER.

John Simcoe, Abducted Early in the War, Returns.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 17.—Oscar Simcoe, a gunsmith, whose baby boy was abducted in the first year of the war, was found by the son Monday. The father was wounded early in the war, and his wife, leaving baby John with a neighbor at New Albany, Ind., went to nurse her husband. When the father and mother returned the neighbors had gone, taking with them the baby. When the boy was ten years of age he ran away, became a trick rider and joined a circus. Learning that the woman he supposed to be his mother was fatally ill at Bloomington, Ill., he went to see her, and before she died she told him whose son he was, but he could find no trace of father or mother. While in Louisville last week he happened to tell his story to Henry Cassaden, whose wife, as it turned out, was a younger sister of the abducted child. Simcoe came here and made himself known. The mother has been dead ten years. The father and son decline to make public at this time the names of the abductors.

HAWAII'S EX-QUEEN.

Report That She Will Sue For Damages Generally Discredited.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The rumor that the Hawaiian ex-queen will present a claim for damages to the United States government continues to be discussed, although it is pretty generally discredited. No such claim has been presented and there is little reason to doubt that the report has been officially denied by the queen's advisers. The leaders of the house says that a claim of this kind could never be sustained. Judge Holman says congress would not listen to such a proposition for a moment. The claim could not be based on the idea that President Cleveland and Secretary Gresham had admitted that the queen's overthrow was due to the course of Minister Stevens and the landing of the United States marines for such admission cover questions of facts and would not be considered in handling on congress when it came to setting up a claim for damages.

HAW SUGAR

Will Be Shipped Around the Horn From San Francisco to New York.

San Francisco, Jan. 17.—Claus Spreckels' representatives here have signed a contract with John Rosenfelds Sons, shipping merchants, by which Rosenfelds will carry raw sugar from this port around Cape Horn to New York at a rate of $2.50.

Four hundred tons of sugar have already been placed on the ship R. D. Hice, which is ready to sail, and all Rosenfelds' ships hereafter will carry from five hundred to thousand tons. It is estimated fifty thousand tons of raw sugar will be shipped in this manner and refined in New York.

This means a loss of about $1,000,000 to San Francisco, as the cost of refining is not less than $20 a ton, represented in coal, ships, wages and expenses of a big refinery. Heretofore the Southern Pacific carried the refined sugar from this city to Missouri river points at eighty-five cents a hundred, but the Spreckels claim it will be cheaper to ship raw sugar round the Horn, refine in New York and reship west by rail.

PLANT TO BE SOLD.

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 16.—The Standard Oil company's mammoth plant at Whiting has been bulletined to be sold for taxes. The property comprises nearly 300 acres of land and is assessed at $993,225. The delinquent taxes are $707.11, to which is added $113.17 penalty attached for non-payment; also the current taxes amounting to $10,627.25. The delinquency is based upon a valuation of $35,000, which the company claims was an error in their assessment. The sale will take place February 6 unless payment is made in full before that time. The real valuation of the property to be sold is estimated to be about $8,000,000.

VETERANS MUTINY.

Saloon Keepers Reaping a Rich Harvest From the Veterans Every Month.

San Francisco, Jan. 17.—The old soldiers at Yountville veterans home are in a state of mutiny. Two old veterans have been discharged from the home for disorderly conduct. Commander Dimpfel has been arrested for assaulting a veteran. The officers of the institution carry revolvers to protect themselves and the civil authorities have been called in.

The trouble is all about an order requiring the old soldiers to turn over their pension money to the commandant for safe keeping. This rule was made to keep the veterans from squandering their money in the Yountville saloons.

The saloon keepers who reap a rich harvest from the soldiers every month are backing the mutineers in their fight, and 168 of the inmates of the home declare they will not obey the pension rule. The board of directors of the home have indorsed Commandant Dimpfel's course in discharging two malcontents and have adopted resolutions declaring the pension rule must be obeyed.

LANCASTER EXCITED

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 17.—It was discovered this morning that an attempt was made last night to blow up a big four story brick building, belonging to John W. Holman, and situated beside the police station. A fuse was seen projecting from the foundation when an investigation disclosed a bomb made from a foot of two and one inch pipe, filled with an eight by one and one-half inch pipe of 60 per cent. dynamite. A nitroglycerine cap connected it with a piece of fuse four feet long, which had been ignited, but had gone out. The building which had been vacant for some time has just been leased by the Lowell Harness and Collar company. There is no clue to the motive or the miscreant.

DARING ROBBERIES.

Tramps Get Into Music Work at Lebanon, Pa.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 17.—Several daring robberies were committed about 6 o'clock this morning on the principal business streets of the city, and at a time when they were well filled with people going to market. Big plate glass windows in three stores were smashed and articles on display stolen. At Reilly Bros. & Raubs hardware store a number of revolvers were secured, at Gansman & Bros. clothing store, overcoats, and at A. A. Schaeffer's liquor store a number of bottles of whisky. The principal loss is that of the plate glass. Tramps are believed to have done the work.

JACKSON PARK.

The Fine Arts Building Will Be Remodeled.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—It seems probable that the fine arts building at Jackson park will either have to be remodeled or reconstructed entirely before it can be used as the Field Columbian museum. STONE THROWN!

At the Ex-Priest, J. V. McNamara, in Kansas.

Causes Him to Fire on the Crowd, and a Running Fight Follows—No One Seriously Injured.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 17.—A crowd of 2,000 men collected outside the Turner hall last night to take vengeance on an A. P. A. lecturer, known as "the ex-priest, J. V. McNamara." The speaker had appeared on the platform with a club and, stating that there was murder in the air, asked for protection. After a bitter lecture he and his wife, both armed, left the hall and entered a carriage. As stones were thrown McNamara fired at the crowd and a running fight of several blocks ensued, with many shots and a shower of stones. The lecturer and his wife escaped, no one having been seriously injured.

ORDERS DISOBEYED.

The Expected General Strike a Partial Success.

Some of the Men Remain at Their Post, Contrary to the Expectation of Leaders.

Pittsburg, Jan. 17.—Reports from different mining districts indicate that the miners have failed to obey the general strike order and the greater number of pits are working. At the offices of the Hackett Coal company and the Pittsburg and Chicago Gas Coal company the mine superintendent reported the mines in operation. There is a strike, though, at the Germania mine of Henry Floreskiron. In the third and second pools the diggers, who agreed to work yesterday morning at the two and one-half cent rate are yet loading, according to reports received. The mines along the Panhandle are still in operation; also those of the Mansfield and Bridgeville district and the Pennsylvania and West Moreland, and the New York and Cleveland companies' mines on the Pennsylvania railroad. The mines on the Connellsville branch of the Baltimore and Ohio not being organized, were not affected by the strike order.

DEMAND THEIR MONEY.

Novel Method Adopted By Depositors to Recover Losses.

Two Arms in Campbell the Wife of the President of a Defunct Bank to Hand Out the Cash.

Meadville, Pa., Jan. 17.—Two young ladies called at the residence of Cyrus Kitchen, president of the recently suspended Meadville Savings bank, and, according to Mr. Kitchen's story, demanded $800 on deposit in the bank by their father. One of the girls, Mrs. Kitchen states, held a loaded revolver to her head and threatened to blow her brains out if the money was not produced at once. The young ladies are Ella Lucy Jobe and her sister, Minnie, a dealer in hair goods. They were both arrested, but the girls deny that they used any revolvers or made any threats, but say that they were on business, Miss Minnie having been asked to call on Mrs. Kitchen might make some purchases. The affair created a sensation and the hearing may develop something not on the bill. The suspended bank has made no statement as yet.

QUEER PROCEEDINGS.

Orders For Cash That Was Not Forthcoming.

Rhinesmith and Simonson Annoyed by a Man Who Claims to be in Their Employ.

This morning early, as soon as the office of Rhinesmith & Simonson was opened, a Monroeville farmer appeared at the cashier's window and presented an order for $210, signed by one A. C. Shaw. The order had been given to the farmer by the man Shaw in payment for some fencing logs. The farmer was greatly astonished when told by Rhinesmith & Simonson's clerk that the firm had no man in their employ by the name of A. C. Shaw, and had never authorized the issuance of orders for logs. In fact, the firm has no one out at present who is buying logs. The farmer stated that a day or so ago Shaw had approached him and represented that he wished to purchase some timber for the Fort Wayne market. The farmer at once made a special effort to accommodate the buyer and spent some $4 or $5 showing him about the vicinity.

As soon as the Monroeville man learned that the order could not be cashed he hurried back to Monroeville, as the logs were this morning being loaded upon the cars.

Whether the man Shaw is a swindler, or there is some mistake about the whole matter, is not now known. The only way in which Shaw could raise any ready money on the purchase would be to get the cars loaded and secure a bill of lading and then discount it and skip. As the railroad company would know where the logs went in case they were shipped it is not likely they could be easily stolen.

A few days ago a farmer from near New Haven also presented an order drawn on Rhinesmith & Simonson, which was not paid, as its issuance was never authorized.

LATER.

Since the above was written it has been learned that the man calling himself Shaw is an all round swindler and that his name is not Shaw but John Johnson. His home is said to be in St Joe Mich. A warrant has been sworn out for his arrest and Sheriff Clausmeier has gone out to hunt the fellow up. Johnson was said to be at Decatur at noon today.

CANDIDATES for state offices are getting a hustle on themselves.

THE echoes of the Hawaiian question are now heard in the talk about suits for damages.

IT is to be hoped that Florida's governor will be able to knock out both Corbett and Mitchell.

THE republicans will hold a district convention in this city tomorrow afternoon to select a member of the state central committee for the Twelfth congressional district.

DOLLAR gas is an established fact in Philadelphia this week. Beginning with Monday all gas consumers in the city, with the exception of those supplied by the company in the northeast part of the city, will get gas for a dollar a thousand. There are in the whole city 175,000 gas meters supplied by the municipality.

THE mild weather has caused quite an activity among the hens, and eggs are more plentiful just now than they have been in January for many years. They have dropped to sixteen cents in New York city and today the price in Fort Wayne was lowered to fifteen cents. The hens have evidently concluded to do something in the line of charity and bring the price of eggs within the reach of all, even if it be right in the "dead o' winter."

NO one who will study the statistics of our industries, says the Engineering and Mining Journal, and the foundations on which our progress is based, can have any doubt concerning the brilliancy of the future. While the next few months may still find trade dull and prices low, we believe we can look forward to the year 1894 with assurance that it will itself be one of general welfare, and that it will be the forerunner of a series of successful years.

MUCH speculation has been indulged in by the public as to the prospects for an ice crop this winter and upon the probable price of the commodity next season. So far the dealers have been selling from last winter's supply, but some of them are nearly out, and are casting about for a plan for a stock for next season. There are differences of opinion among the retailers, but the large dealers are confident that they will have little trouble in stocking up before the winter is out.

GOVERNOR STONE, of Mississippi, took a stand against lawlessness in his recent message to the legislature of the state. He told the lawmakers that "nothing calls so loudly for correction as the present miscarriage of justice in trials for homicide." He held that it breeds mob law, lynch law and encourages crime by begetting hope of escape. He also said that "the reproach that a man of means may assail his fellow-man with impunity is too often true." It is a hopeful sign for the future of any state when the legally constituted functionaries of the law recognize shortcomings in this way and set about amendment.

A STATEMENT has been prepared at the pension office showing the number of special examiners of the bureau now in the field from each state. These examiners are given by states, as follows: Alabama, 8; Arkansas, 2; Connecticut, 2; California, 4; Colorado, 1; District of Columbia, 6; Georgia, 6; Indiana, 18; Iowa, 6; Illinois, 18; Kansas, 7; Kentucky, 9; Louisiana, 3; Massachusetts, 1; Maine, 4; Michigan, 11; Maryland, 2; Minnesota, 1; Missouri, 16; Mississippi, 6; North Carolina, 7; New Jersey, 5; Nebraska, 3; New York, 21; Ohio, 15; Oregon, 1; Pennsylvania, 15; South Carolina, 4; Tennessee, 9; West Virginia, 4; Texas, 9; Virginia, 11; Washington, 1; Wisconsin, 6; Vermont, 2; Rhode Island, 1, and Oklahoma, 1.

NEWSPAPERS are about the most abused people upon the face of this earth, but their shoulders are awfully broad and they are consequently able to stand anything and everything that may be said of them. The Bluffton News hits the nail square on the head in the following paragraph on the subject: "There isn't a newspaper of any account in the United States that doesn't offend somebody almost every week. An editor can please all of the people part of the time, but when he tries to please all the people all the time he makes a dismal failure of it. It is something no man yet has ever succeeded in doing and and we gave it up long ago. The man who swears about editors and reporters is liable to attract about as much attention as he would if he was not on earth at all."

THE prohibition state central committee has decided to hold its nominating convention March 15 and at that time will put a state ticket in the field. This will be followed by the nomination of candidates for congress in each of the thirteen districts and also by the nomination of tickets in each county. The committee claims that 200 prohibition speeches will be made each month from May to November, and that their vote will be largely increased over former years. They are preparing to conduct a vigorous campaign against the saloons under the recent supreme court decision which held that a saloon may be declared a nuisance, and that the owner of adjoining property may recover damages upon proof that the proximity of the saloon depreciates the value of his property for residence or business purposes. The leaders say that they propose to drive the saloons entirely out of the residence portions of the cities and towns in Indiana, and that one of the issues in the approaching campaign will be the question of the passage of laws by the next legislature in harmony with that decision.

What They Would Do.

A reporter of the Chicago Tribune has been asking a number of rich business men of that city what they would do if they found themselves suddenly stranded without a cent and with no work. Phil Armour replied that he did not care to be interviewed. It is rather surprising how many of the others speak up instantly and affirm that first of all they would get out of Chicago. Others remark with the same emphasis that they would not come to Chicago. On the whole, the Windy City seems a poor place for a man to wrestle with poverty.

Lyman J. Gage, president of the First National bank, said in reply to the question: "The Lord only knows! I would try to get work. If that failed, I would beg. But I don't know. I think, though, I would get out of town. When a man begins to beg, it breaks his spirit." A "big wholesale concern's head man" said:

I would look for work from door to door and tell the people I didn't want anything taken I was and what I had tried to do, and then put his religion to a test. I think I could get out of town by that at least. I would be the three men who came in here this morning one after another asking for money. I told them if they would shoot the same from the shoulder I would pay them. They refused, and they got out in front of my window, and yet should have seen how they leered at me. The idea of their working was in vain!

Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, said:

That is the way I came to Chicago, unmuzzled. I began in hustle. I didn't beg for money, but I kept moving. I know, however, that a combination of circumstances will often confound an honest and capable man and render him penniless. For such, I think, there should be a home provided by the state or city until they could get work. We should make such people the wards of the state. The other should be offered some opportunity of showing their energies. I do not take much stock in that beautiful sentiment, "Then shalt go hungry, but then shalt not steal." But, understand me, hunger is no excuse for crime. I think the majority of unemployed men in this city are so on their own account. The others should be taken care of.

Charles T. Yerkes declared he would get work at any cost. "What if you couldn't?" asked the reporter, to which Yerkes answered, "There should be no such word in any man's dictionary, especially a poor man's, as couldn't." A banker, however, lies hit upon the true plan for a man of pluck and grit to adopt when he says he would make his case known to the public through the newspapers. The newspaper can do more than almost any other agency to help everybody. The banker says:

If I came to Chicago broke, I would try the newsboids organization first of all. If they couldn't give it to me, I would go to a preacher to preacher and present my case. Failing in that, I would go to the saloon. If he couldn't do anything, I would go to a newspaper and tell my story in detail, giving the names of those on whom I called and what they said. A man with that sort of pride and grit won't go without work very long. With a majority of the unemployed the condition is their own fault.

The answer of C. H. Farwell, the millionaire, to the question will be read with as much interest as any, because he himself struck Chicago in almost the condition pictured by the reporter. It will be news to most people that Mr. Farwell began his career as poor as the poorest. His answer was as follows:

I came here virtually in that condition in January, 1844. I came in here from Ogle county on a team and walked. I had $10 and nothing in sight. I gave it to a woman who gave me a room and board until I could get work. I walked the streets of the city until June. I'm aware of work. There were so many business men here then. I walked in all of them. I walked miles to the factories. Nowhere could I get a position. I went to it, however, and I said to the man in charge of the factory, I'm a sober man, I'm honest, and I want work. I'm willing to do anything. I would go to his house and tell my story. It did not strike me that I would be a beggar. I was not a beggar. I was a sober man of good habits, and I felt that there are thousands here who are not as fortunate as I was. I had $10. The factory men were, if I recall the condition, I would go to the county agent, and I would tell him, which is a fact, that the people of Chicago and Cook county are tired to keep people from starving. I would remain in work in the poorhouse or on the county farm, and that would keep me from begging until I could do better. If the poorhouse and farm were filled, I would demand of the county board and a place would be found for me. I would have no use for it, but both as long as I starved by my acts I was deserving and trying to get work.

THE G. O. M. of the Republican party of Pennsylvania is evidently Galusha A. Grow, who decided into a recent candidacy for the Fifty-third congress on the unanimous vote of his constituents after he had been out of politics for 18 years. In 1876 Mr. Grow refused the Russian mission, which of itself was an uncommonly strong minded act. Standing tall, erect and with flashing eye, without a sign of physical weakness or failing about him, as he appeared in the convention that recently nominated him, it was hard to believe that this man had been speaker of the house of representatives at the memorable session of congress which met July 4, 1861, suddenly summoned to take measures for the preservation of the Union. Yet such was the fact. Mr. Grow is 70 years old. He began political life very early, which makes him seem to the younger generation about 90 years old. But he is only 70 and remarkably vigorous and well preserved. He was elected first to the Thirty-second congress in 1850 and was the youngest member of that body. From the Thirty-second congress in 1851 to the Fifty-third in 1893-4 is a long stretch. This will make the seventh congress of which Mr. Grow has been a member.

The innate selfishness of mankind shows up in a lurid light among some of the European diplomatic officials in Rio Janeiro. There have been hints and signs that they favored from the beginning the cause of Mello, the insurgent. Nothing was done of an overt nature, however, and the United States squadron in Brazil really only guess that such was the case. It has gradually transpired, though, that the European diplomats began the breaking up of Peixoto's power will in some way annul the reciprocity treaty between Brazil and the United States and throw across the water the trade which by reason of that treaty now comes to us. Therefore they encourage by all the underhanded means in their power the rebel side. Some peoplemore than enough for anything.

The New York Press has been looking into the question of railroad losses for 1893 and finds it to be the most disastrous year American railways have ever encountered. Nearly one-fifth of the railroads of the country went in the hands of receivers. The united capital of the roads, consisting of stocks, bonds, lands, rolling stock and other property, amounts to $1,641,281,000, a sum more than twice as large as the national debt.

The war between Spain and Portugal, 1640-40, cost $250,000,000.

THE WOODS SEARCHED.

A Farmer's Boy Lost for Several Hours.

The Little One is Finally Found and Returned to His Half Frantic Parents.

Monday evening the four year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zwick, who reside upon a farm near Bingen, Adams county, left his home to walk down the road to meet his brother and sister as they returned from school. The little fellow strayed off in the woods and wandered three miles away, where he was picked up at 9 o'clock by a farmer and cared for during the night. He was so confused that he could not give his name. The parents were nearly crazed with grief and all night searched fields and woods in the vicinity of their home for the lost boy, and had about made up their minds that he had perished when he was brought home by the farmer who found him.

VALUABLE SOUVENIRS.

Three of Them Received by an Employe of This Office.

Nate Beadell, of THE SENTINEL composing room, has become the fortunate possessor of three valuable souvenirs. They consist of a photograph of the great English tragedian, Mr. Henry Irving; also one of Miss Ellen Terry, who for several years has been Mr. Irving's leading lady, and last, but not least, a souvenir program of Tennyson's great play of "Becket." The photographs are both splendid productions of three famous foot-light stars, especially so that of Miss Terry. The souvenir program in itself is a work of art, being handsomely bound, with embellished covers, and contains some fifteen pages, each one presenting an act, scene and other portions of the play of Becket, together with splendid pictures of the two leading characters. All the pictures are printed from half-tone copper plates and are well executed. They were sent to Mr. Beadell from his brother, Edwin Beadell, who for several years has been a member of the Irving-Terry, or (Lyceum company) as it is better known in the United States, and who are now playing at the Tremont theater, Boston. For the benefit of those in this city, who are admirers of this famous actor and actress Mr. Beadell has furnished us with the dates and cities in which they appear before leaving for England: Boston, Jan 1 to 27; Philadelphia, Jan. 29 to Feb. 10; Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 to 17; Toronto, Canada, Feb. 19 to 21; Montreal, Canada, Feb. 22 to 24; New York city, Feb. 26 to March 10, and Boston, Mass., March 10 to 17. Mr. Henry Beadell, of the People's store, is also a brother of the sender of these souvenirs, which are highly prized by their possessor.

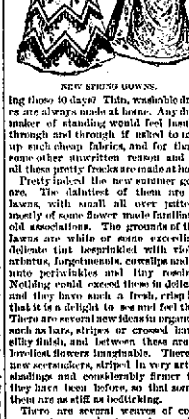
A LOOK JUST AHEAD.

OLIVE HARPER ALREADY DISCUSSES NEXT SEASON'S FABRICS.

The Two Ideas That Possess the Feminine Mind—New Summer Goods—Exceptionally Handsome Ball Gowns—The Latest Novelties For Walking Gowns.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Just now two ideas possess the feminine mind, and they are ball dresses and the new wash fabrics for next summer. I suppose no one would wonder why in the very coldest time of the year women would or could care to contemplate those diaphanous fabrics, but "woman is a queer critter" anyhow, and, besides, what is better calculated to make them feel duly humble and miserable than to have a dressmaker in the house and have to keep her, or at least to be at her beck and call during those 10 days? Thus, washable dresses are always made at home. Any dressmaker of standing would feel insulted through and through if asked to make up such cheap fabrics, and for that or some other unwritten reason and law all these pretty frocks are made at home.



NEW SPRING GOWNS.

Pretty indeed the new summer goods are. The daintiest of them are the lawns, with small all over patterns, mostly of some flower made familiar by old associations. The grounds of these lawns are white or some exceedingly delicate tint lengthwise with violets, arbutus, forget-me-nots, cowslips and minute periwinkles and tiny rosebuds. Nothing could exceed these in delicacy, and they have such a fresh, crisp look that it is a delight to see and feel them. There are several new ideas in organdies, such as bars, stripes or crossed bars of silky finish, and between these are the loveliest flowers imaginable. There are new seersuckers, striped in very artistic shadings and considerably firmer than they have been before, so that some of them are as stiff as bedticking.

There are several weaves of cotton crepon, in very pleasing colors, and no end of swiss muslins dotted with white or colored figures. The swiss muslins are always stiff and have the faculty of holding starch well as long as they last.

There are several new English zephyr ginghams with satin stripes, and these coming in very refined and delicate. There is a line of new linen lawns from Fayal. They are too expensive for every one, but how very dainty and pretty they are one cannot judge without comparing others with them. There is much of the beautiful Mexican drawn lace work seen on fine linen lawns above the hems, sometimes three and four rows in graduated widths. There are cotton chevriots, but I fear they will "run" in the laundry. The latest and most novel lawns have at most in some instances of lines of thread a trifle coarser than the fabric in light colors, looking like ribbon sewed along. Speaking of ribbon reminds me that ribbon in large quantities will be required at trimming for these light summer dresses, and the light laces will find useful places upon the waists and sleeves and as ruffles and flounces.

The ball gowns are exceptionally handsome and tempting. For dress classes—the thin and filmy dress for the young girl and the rich and resplendent one for the matron. At a recent grand function two gowns were worn that were worth special notice. One was of pearl gray satin duchess "as stiff as a board." This was brocaded with great sprays of wild purple asters and stems. It was cut princess, with the back breadths laid in extra deep plaits, and owing to the richness of the material there was no foot trimming. The neck was cut half low and had a bodice of point lace reaching all around in the back, but falling to jabot points in front nearly to the knee, where it ended under windmill bows and fists of violet ribbon.

The other dress was of sky blue peau de sole, open down the front over a draping of white lace and edged with narrow black lace. All around the bottom were set blue bows, and the sleeves and sleeves were elaborately draped with lace.

I have just room to mention two handsome walking gowns for early spring—one of blue serge over red velvet and trimmed with the red, and a blonde shade with silver ruffles of corded brown silk and waist trimming of the same—both elegant and tasteful.

CHARACTER IN THE PALMS.

The Study of the Hand Has Become a Social Fad.

[Special Correspondence.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Barnum's alleged remark that people like to be humbugged has received a fresh commendation in the palmistry fad, which has become somewhat prevalent in social circles in this city. Reading palms enables a few "professors" to gather a few dollars from the gullible and superstitious, and serves to furnish diversion for those upon whom time hangs heavily. By attention to a few simple rules practiced by successful palm readers every one can read his own palm and get what satisfaction there may be in something which has only a modicum of truth for a basis of what it reveals.

The left hand should be studied, unless the person be left handed, but in case of doubt the other hand should be consulted for auxiliary evidence. The thumb and fingers are each divided by the joints into three phalanges. The intuitive faculties are represented in the first, reasoning powers in the second and material instincts in the third phalanges.

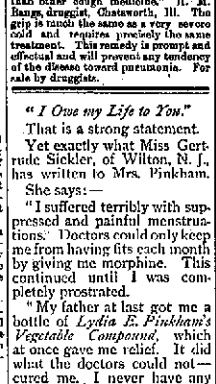
Beginning from the forefinger, the fingers are named Jupiter, Saturn, Apollo and Mercury. The fleshy pads at the base of each finger are termed "mounts" and are named after the fingers below which they occur. The "ball," or third phalange of the thumb, is called the mount of Venus. In the center of the palm is the plain or triangle of Mars. Below the mount of Mercury is the mount of Mars. Extending from the last mount up to the wrist is the mount of Luna, or the moon.

The line of life should, if perfect, completely encircle the mount of Venus. A long, regular line, deep, but narrow, soft in color, denotes long, healthy life and good character.

The line of Mars, or martial, should be of a clear red color. It is a "place" or letter line of the line of life. In soldiers it indicates success in fights in civilians, violence of the passions.

The line of heart extends from the mount of Jupiter to the mount of Mercury. If deep, of a good color and narrow, it indicates a strong, good heart, firm affection and even temper.

The line of head runs from the base of the mount of Jupiter to the mount of



PALM OUTLINES.

Mars. If even, narrow and long, it indicates strong will and judgment and acute mental perception.

The line of fortune or fate should run in a straight, unbroken line from the "bracelet" to the base of the second finger. Broken lines denote troubles. Both hands should be read when studying the line of fate.

The line of Apollo or brilliancy, a very tricky line to peruse, rises from the plain of Mars or from the life line toward the third finger. If straight and clear, it indicates fame in the arts or wealth.

The line of health starts diagonally from the wrist to meet the line of head close to the mount of Mars, or at the top of the mount of Luna. This line is unfortunately often wanting.

"The milky way," rarely noticeable, runs from the wrist across the mount of Luna. It indicates a cunning and faithless spirit. It is liable to be mistaken for the line of health.

The girdle of Venus, fortunately uncommon, is as a whole indicative of a bad character.

Bracelets of life—these encircle the wrist and denote length of life, fortune and happiness, especially if they rise toward the hand.

"I Owe my Life to You."

That is a strong statement.

Yet exactly what Miss Gertrude Sickler, of Wilton, N. J., has written to Mrs. Pinkham. She says:—

"I suffered terribly with suppressed and painful menstruations. Doctors could only keep me from having fits each month by giving me morphine. This continued until I was completely prostrated.

"My father at last got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which at once gave me relief. It did what the doctors could not—cured me. I never have any trouble now, and have no dread of the coming month.

"I owe my life to you. Oh! if other suffering women would try your valuable medicine they would bless you as I do."

AFFAIRS OF THE RAIL.

Extra Trainmen Complain of Their Hard Lot.

"Fine Weather" and "No Work" are the Cause of Their Woes—Small Pox in Chicago—Local Lines.

Blizzards or snow storms make railroading very unpleasant, yet there are men in this city today who would welcome a genuine, old-fashioned blizzard, such as prevailed about this period of the year just past. They are the extra trainmen who work only when the regular men are off duty. During the past four weeks the weather has been extremely mild and spring like, and, of course, the regular crews "attended strictly to business." Meanwhile the extras were idle, or nearly so, and many of them did not earn a penny. What a change bad weather would bring about! The regular crews would be suddenly reminded of the needs of their less fortunate brethren and their own need of rest and would take a vacation, while the extras would be given a chance to earn something. Some of the Fort Wayne roads have recently experienced considerable trouble on account of the great number of extra trainmen they have been carrying on their rolls. Not getting work enough to support themselves, the poor fellows would hang around the offices and at every opportunity complain to the officials of their hard lot. This was annoying and to stop it the officials were compelled to dismiss many of the men from the service. One road last week let out a dozen firemen and double that number of brakemen.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT SEYMOUR.

Engine 296, hauling the first section of east bound Wabash train No. 98, struck a head car one mile west of Seymour, Ohio, at 6:45 o'clock this morning, severely injuring two men. Martin Cain, the section foreman, who resides at Colton, had one leg broken and mangled and was also badly bruised about the head. John Church, also of Colton, received a bad cut on the side of the head and near the eye, and one of his ankles was sprained. The train was stopped and the injured men were picked up and taken to White House, where they were placed under the charge of Dr. F. M. Heath. Later Dr. Duncan, the company's surgeon, was summoned and Mr. Cain was removed to his home in Colton, where the injured limb will be amputated this afternoon. Mr. Cain is quite an old man and doubts of his recovery are approhended. The accident was due to a dense fog which prevailed in that vicinity this morning. The country is low and wet and woods abound on both sides of the scene of the accident. Conductor Lefferts and Engineer Bloomfield were in charge of the train.

MINOR MENTION.

The Pittsburg pay car will arrive in the city tonight.

Machinist J. J. Juley reported for duty at the Base works this morning, after a week's illness.

Charles Schafer, of the east car shop, is rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby boy at his home.

A. C. Schmeiser, machinist at the Base works, was taken ill this morning and had to quit work.

The Nashville, Chatanooga and St. Louis railroad has declared a dividend of 1½ per cent, payable February 1.

The Base works are building a boiler for the Daily News, to replace one which has been in use many years.

W. C. Heine, P. J. Rapp and Nathan Sibray, of the Wabash shops, were off duty yesterday looking after private affairs.

Robert Stonebraner, gang foreman in the Pittsburg round house, is still unable to work. He has been ill nearly a month.

W. Heller, formerly of the Indiana machine works, is now working in the factory of the Peters Box and Lumber company.

The directors of the Lake Erie and Western yesterday declared a dividend on its preferred stock of 1½ per cent, payable February 15.

Terrence Martin, J. P. Roach and William Wartenbee, Pittsburg blacksmiths, are off duty today looking after some private business.

Daniel Shea, of Alliance, Ohio, will arrive in the city this evening and be the guest of Machinist Jerry Donahy, of the Pittsburg shops, for a few days.

John Collins, the Pittsburg shopman who was stricken with paralysis a week ago, is in a critical condition. His children were summoned to his bedside this morning.

Seymore B. Hartzempf, foreman of the boiler shop in the Pennsylvania works at Altoona, is here on business for the company. Six years ago Mr. Hartzempf resided in this city and worked in the Pittsburg shops under Foreman James Howes.

J. Sulley, of the Pittsburg machine shop, is sick and off duty.

Sherman Gibson, William Hibbringer and Ed Bayhouser, all Nickel Plate brakemen, have reported for duty after a lay off for various reasons.

The work of tearing down the old West Main street bridge was completed to day. In a few weeks it will be resting upon its new piers at the foot of Van Buren street.

One good has resulted from the appointment of receivers for the Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis. The shops at Princeton, Ind., have been started up full handed, repairing rolling stock.

So far twenty applications for the vacant position of superintendent of the Union Railway company and Belt road at Indianapolis, have been handed in. The applicants are nearly all trainmasters.

The Atchison has made a combination of local rates on the Alton to Roodhouse, Ill., and from there to Texas points lower than the through rates. The Alton will be asked by the Eastern Passenger association to equalize the rates.

The Union Pacific has aroused its competing lines by announcing that the limit on midwinter fair California tickets has been extended to return on until July 15, instead of April 30. Compeling lines will doubtless make a similar extension.

The Ross works yesterday received an order from John Douglas, of Torreon, Mexico, for a Corliss engine, cylinder 12x30, to be delivered as soon as possible. The order also included some other machinery. This is the second order from Mexico received by the Ross company this week.

East bound freight rates are strictly maintained by all railways, notwithstanding the occasional rumor of cuts. When they find that the railways mean to abide by the new schedule, shippers will submit to the inevitable and forward their grain and other freights.

The elopemetes of Harvey Stahl, mention of whose wedding is made in the society column, treated that gentleman to an old time charivari last evening. Mr. Stahl appeared at the door and, 'mid the din of tin horns, operated by strong lungs, and the ringing of cow bells, handed out cigars with a generosity characteristic of him. The serenaders then departed homeward.

The total of east bound shipments from Chicago last week again broke the record, being 129,095 tons, against 125,709 for the corresponding week of 1892. The roads carried tonnage as follows: Michigan Central, 15,741; Wabash, 9,576; Lake Shore, 14,417; Fort Wayne, 26,989; Pennsylvania, 20,474; Baltimore and Ohio, 4,293; Grand Trunk, 11,402; Nickel Plate, 11,217; Chicago and Erie, 12,623; Big Four, 2,113.

The returns show that on the night the buildings were burned, last week, on the world's fair grounds, the Illinois Central carried more people from Chicago to the grounds than on the big Chicago day of the world's fair, running trains all night and the next day, taxing their whole passenger equipment, and as the round trip fare was twenty cents, it proved a big lift for the Central in its January earnings.

The Indianapolis Journal says: "Fort Wayne has one of the most flourishing railroad branches of the Young Men's Christian association in the country. Every Sunday night the branch is addressed by some able man. All employes on the roads centering in Fort Wayne are said to be interested in the operations of this branch." In speaking of this a railway official yesterday remarked that it was a disgrace to Indianapolis that there was not a live railroad branch of this organization in this city."

The New Cumberland and Pittsburg railroad, which will be built through Beaver county, Pa., is designed to link the Panhandle and the Fort Wayne in yet another place on the big system of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg. The advantages of such a link for the transmission of freight or travelers are incalculable, and especially so in case either the Fort Wayne or the Panhandle becomes gorged with freight. The newline is an extension o the New Cumberland branch of the Panhandle, which branch runs through a very rich portion of West Virginia.

Trainmen say that small pox is alarmingly prevalent in some parts of Chicago. In one boarding house, they say, seven of the occupants were taken ill with the dreadful disease before the health officers were aware of its presence. Of course the house was immediately quarantined and every precaution taken against the spread of the disease, yet there is an uneasy feeling among the residents of that portion of the city, and those who were able to do so have sought quarters elsewhere. The house referred to is on Madison street, not far from the Union depot. None of the Chicago papers publish small pox news.

One of the new and novel features of running express trains is the armed guards on the express cars of the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central and the Baltimore and Ohio. When a messenger throws open the door of an express car there is seen seated on the inside a determined-looking individual holding a Winchester rifle across his knees in an attitude of a wide-awake readiness. The guard is expected to remain on duty whether the express car door is open or shut. The express messenger was formerly the only custodian of the car. All the guards are picked men of unquestioned courage, and must be unerring marksmen. They carry revolvers as well as Winchesters.

At the east barns of the Electric Street Car company there is a small shop where cars are repaired. For some time the want of power to drive some of the light machinery in the shop has been felt. Yesterday Superintendent McNutt supplied this want by taking a motor from one of the idle cars and mounting it upon a stationary frame. The motor works entirely satisfactorily, furnishing ample power to run drill presses and other machinery. This is something new in the line of power in this city, and when its efficiency becomes known it may go into use in many small factories where steam engines are now used.

A Child Enjoys

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effect of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known, and every family should have a bottle.

About a year ago I took a violent attack of la grippe. I coughed day and night for about six weeks; my wife then suggested that I try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. At first I could see no difference, but still kept taking it and soon found that it was what I needed. If I got no relief from one dose I took another, and it was only a few days until I was free from the cough. I think people in general ought to know the value of this remedy, and I take pleasure in acknowledging the benefit I have received from it. Madison Mustard, Olway, Ohio. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

The persistent cough which usually follows an attack of the grip can be permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. W. A. McGuire, of McKay, Ohio, says: "La Grippe left me with a severe cough. After using several different medicines without relief, I tried Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which effected a permanent cure. I have also found it to be without an equal for children, when troubled with colds or croup. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

THE C.O.D.

AFTER A GAMBLER.

A Wronged Wife and an Attorney Go Gunning.

The Lady Compells the Winner of Her Husband's Hard Earned Cash to Hand Some Back.

A few days ago a tearful woman went to the office of a well known attorney in this city and told a sad tale of wrong done herself and family by the husband and father and a well known gambling house of Fort Wayne. It seems that the woman's husband is an employe of one of the railroads running into this city. He was working only occasionally, however, and when last paid received the sum of $18 and a "lay off" of two or three weeks on account of slack work. The man's family was seriously in need. Grocery bills were due, house rent was due, and although $18 was not a large sum it would have helped along considerably.

The deluded husband, who has a passion for gambling, thought he would increase his $18 at the gambling table and as soon as he received the money went to a well known gaming house on Calhoun street and began to try and "break the bank."

His experience was only a repetition of the old, old story. Every cent of the $18 went into the maw of the "green eyed monster," and then the deluded man went home to beg the forgiveness of the wife whom he had so wronged. A scene followed and the next day the wife went to the attorney and explained the circumstances. The attorney and the lady then went to the gambling house and threatened prosecution. The gamblers only laughed, but upon being close pressed agreed to compromise, and finally gave the lady back $10 of the money lost by her husband.

This is only one of many cases. Gambling is carried on nightly in Fort Wayne and within houses located upon the principal streets, and no effort is being made to stop the curse. No doubt hundreds of families are nightly deprived of money which should go to their support by husbands and fathers who risk their last cent upon the color or denomination of a card. Gambling is a fearful evil.

FALSIFYING BOOKS.

Edwin Jackson must go Prison for Six Months.

BOONSBORO, Pa., Jan. 17.—Edwin H. Jackson, who had pleaded to charges of falsifying the books of the Cambria iron company and of issuing false checks, has been let down easy at the joint request of counsel on both sides and the formal requests of prominent citizens of Johnstown. Upon these considerations the court has given a sentence of six months in jail and a fine of $100. Relatives of Mr. Jackson here now say they will take immediate steps toward seeing that Jackson's accomplices are brought to justice.

"Three hundred and fifty dollars."

"No, not so much as that."

"Yes, every cent of it, and another fifty on top of it."

"Are you sure?"

"Yes, I'll swear to it."

"What are you so very inquisitive for?"

"Merely for assessing purposes. I am the assessor for this ward and only wanted to know what you rated your nag at.

"Oh, I see what you're driving at. Well, for the purpose of sale, he's worth every cent of it, but for taxation he's not worth more'n twenty-five dollars."

City Treasurer Chas. J. Sossenheimer has been suffering with an attack of neuralgia brought on by la grippe.

Evidences of spring weather are plentiful now days. In the past few weeks fishermen have been catching some fine strings of bass in the St. Mary's river. Minnows and raw meat have been the most effective bait. On Monday one sportsman caught six bass weighing nearly a pound each.

Last evening Marion Black gave a "seance" in a room at the Arcade to satisfy a number of his friends that he was proficient in the art of legerdemain sometimes called spiritualism. Marion will in a short time give an exhibition at the Temple. He will probably be assisted by a well known physician and a bright lady who has recently denounced spiritualism.

A good story, says the Bluffton News, is told on one of the ministers of Ossian. It is said one evening recently a young couple called at the parsonage to be joined as man and wife. After the ceremony had been performed the groom took an envelope from his pocket, and looking significantly at the clergyman, laid it on the table. When the young couple had gone the good minister opened the envelope to see the size of his fee. He was surprised to read on the piece of paper inclosed the pencilled words, "I'll see you later."

Hon. Wallace Bruce will deliver his lecture on "Robert Burns and the Haunts of Burns" tomorrow evening, and he should have a crowded house. Of the theme and lecturer the San Francisco Evening Post says: "An audience of 1,500 people assembled last evening at Metropolitan Temple to hear Wallace Bruce deliver his lecture on 'Robert Burns.' It was masterly and eloquent in the highest degree.
